Well the last few weeks have been really busy, like most peoples I'd say. From the Leonard race team hope you have all had a great Xmas and New Year break. As for me I worked all thru the holiday period, with that and racing it's been all go. The car is back on song after a couple of meetings not going so good, these cars can sure test you when things are not going so well, but like all motorsport you have to tough out the bad days and work to get things right.

Last meeting here in the Bay we had a good night taking a 2nd and a 3rd place, with a spin in the second race costing a top five finish from the back of the grid, all in all we were happy with the car.

North Island champs are only days away now, I have the body away getting new sign writing after placing a car up the wall and him tearing the body to bits, other than that it's been a relaxed week. I think the champs will be a great meeting, really looking forward to getting out there and going hard, the tracks been tricky lately so those that have raced in the Bay the last few meets will be pleased they did, I really think the track could play a part Friday night.

To all the people driving here this week, please drive safe and enjoy the Bay, also bring the sun block and plenty to drink, it's been very hot here. I will do an update next week after the meeting, should be a fun weekend.
